Harding Lets Congress Decide Method Of Accepting Debt Agreement

PRESIDENT NOT TO DICTATE; POINTS OUT TWO WAYS FOR ACTION

Chief Executive Informs
Leaders of His Plans
Regarding Message

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Harding will be renominated as the standard bearer of the Republican party in 1924, Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, a leading administration spokesman, told the senate this afternoon during a political debate between the leaders of both parties.

Watson declared there would be no opposition in the Republican convention when Harding is nominated for a second term.

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Harding has decided to leave it to congress to determine what method will be used in accepting the Anglo-American debt funding agreement, it was learned this afternoon following a conference at the White House between the president, Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, and Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader of the house.

In his message, probably tomorrow, transmitting the terms of the British settlement, the president will confine himself, it was stated, to requesting that the agreement be approved as soon as possible and to pointing out the two courses open to congress to accomplish this.

These are:
1.—By passing a resolution of ratification containing a complete draft of the agreement or
2.—By amending the debt funding act itself.

Upon the address of members of the American debt funding commission, administration leaders at the capitol had practically discarded the ratification plan this afternoon and were planning the introduction of a bill to amend the debt funding act by eliminating the provision which fixed maturity dates of European debts to United States at twenty-five years and the interest rate at 4 1/4 per cent.

ARREST MAN FOR ALLEGED SWINDLE

Head of Defunct Firm Held
By Police on Charge of 3 Million Dollar Fraud

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Ending a nationwide search and a vigil that had been kept over a Mariposa avenue address, federal officers early today arrested Austin H. Montgomery, former head of the defunct Community Finance Company of New York and Boston. It was alleged that people through the country had been swindled out of approximately $3,000,000. Montgomery will be charged with conspiracy.

According to the authorities the trail of Montgomery was picked up here some time ago after an investigation by the New York federal grand jury.

The officers learned Montgomery was living at a Mariposa address and kept constant watch over the place until today when they saw a light in an upstairs room. They rang the door bell and Montgomery answered it. He was arrested.

Hangs Self With Belt In S. F. Lodging House

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—John Jensen, laborer, 26, was found dead, hanging by a leather belt to his bed in a lodging house here. A letter addressed to Charles Becker, United States hotel, Marysville, was found among his effects. No reason is known for his self-destruction.

Local Branch of Auto Club Gets '23 License Plates

SHIPMENTS of 1500 license plates for 1923 have been received by the Glendale office of the Auto club from the state motor vehicle department. They are now ready for distribution, according to M. B. Towman, local representative, and he requests those having their applications in to call for the plates this week-end.

Others who have not as yet applied for the plates, are now able to get them on ten days' notice, he believes, but after that time a penalty will be charged.

C. H. RAVENSCROFT TAKEN BY DEATH

Passes Away In Hospital
This Afternoon; Prominent Among Masons

Charles H. Ravenscroft, known to his many friends as "Dad," custodian of the Masonic Temple and sentinel of the Glendale commandery, Knights Templar, died shortly after 1 o'clock today at the Glendale Research hospital, where he had been seriously ill for over a week.

At his bedside were his wife and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis and son Charles of San Jose.

Since the first announcement of his serious illness the Masonic Temple, over which he was custodian, has been a mighty solemn place, for "Dad's" smile has been missed by lodge members and friends, who were accustomed to drop in for a chat or stop to greet him before and after meetings.

Mr. Ravenscroft and his wife came to Glendale over nine years ago from New Albany, Ind., where he had been a railroad man for many years.

It was in New Albany that Mr. Ravenscroft became a Mason thirty-four years ago and it was there that he took all the degrees.

The residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, inspired him to come west and he first considered Seattle, Washington as a home, but finally came to Glendale to live.

Several years ago he became custodian of the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard, and in addition to this duty, he is also sentinel of the Glendale commandery, Knights Templar.

Scouts Will Inspect
Glendale Postoffice

The Glendale troops of the Verdugo Hills Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be the guests of Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson this afternoon on a tour of inspection of the Glendale postoffice, when the workings of the office will be explained to them in detail.

Captain Jackson has been manifesting an active interest in the Boy Scout movement since its inception here, and he will endeavor to make the visit of the boys to the postoffice an event that will give them a clear idea of the workings of this branch of the government machinery.

Uncle John Says:

Mary attended McGee's Clearance Sale in Glendale last week and she got some great bargains. She saw the ad in The Glendale Evening News and was on hand when the doors opened the first day of the sale. She says she saved at least five dollars on what she bought compared with the prices she paid with prices noticed in ads of out of town stores for the same quality of goods. Mary says she would strain a point to buy in Glendale anyway, but when she can save that much money it ain't a bit hard to do.

RIVAL FORCES GET READY FOR BIG BUDGET BATTLE

Great Majority Lines Up
With Governor in Fight
To Secure Economy

By GIL A. COWAN
Glendale's representatives in the state legislature returned to their homes over the week end from Sacramento to enjoy the constitutional recess of thirty days. Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of this city and Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena and their wives got in late Saturday. Kyle D. Palmer of the Los Angeles Times and his wife, residents of Eagle Rock, accompanied the Wellers.

In some respects, it was not an overly thrilling session, according to the legislators, but a great deal was accomplished along the lines of economy. Fewer bills were presented than last session and the budget presented by Governor Friend W. Richardson shows how a saving of $12,000,000 may be effected—something new in the history of this state.

Something Going Up
The budget is $24,000 short of seventy-nine millions and leaves more than a million for the legislature to dole out unless they see fit to raise more revenue. There is every indication that something will be raised, the dome of the capitol building perhaps, when the solons get back on the job March 5. Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, is taking the lead in criticizing the governor's economy program, although printed copies of the budget will not be distributed until today and no one knows just exactly how well the various educational institutions fared other than they got nearly two-thirds of the appropriations.

Senator Johnson's terms Superintendent Wood's hasty objections as ridiculous and points out several instances where his published comparisons of allowances for teachers' colleges in other states are unfair without explanation. It seems to be the consensus of opinion at the capitol that educational appropriations were "very liberal," Senator Arthur H. Breed, president pro tem of the (Continued on Page 7)

Autos Collide
Broadway and Louise street was the scene of a collision about 8 o'clock Saturday night between automobiles driven by Joseph Paradis of 200 West Windsor road and Mrs. H. Solomon of 622 North Louise street.

According to Mr. Paradis, H. Solomon cut in front of him and he could not avoid striking her car, damaging its right running board, right front fender and right side of body.

Car Is Damaged
Sparr Heights was the scene of a collision about 3:45 yesterday afternoon between automobiles driven by Matthew C. Hendrie of 408 West Maple street and Kenneth Brandstater of 401 West Wilson avenue.

Owing to faulty brakes, young Brandstater was unable to stop the car he was driving before it had smashed the rear mud guard and damaged the gas tank and spare tire of Mr. Hendrie's machine.

A minor collision occurred Saturday between automobiles driven by E. R. Butts of Montrose and Joseph H. Hendrie of 1106 East Broadway. Mr. Hendrie was about to drive into his garage.

Activity of Kiwanis

Again Glendale comes to the lead in the matter of putting over more new Kiwanis clubs in its district than any other in the country since the convention at Montreal, Canada, last summer, according to information received here today by Fred Deal, district deputy, who has been instrumental in the work.

Lankershim is the latest to get a charter, while Van Nuys and San Fernando are waiting for their credentials. Burbank and Alhambra clubs also were installed by the Glendale body, making a total of five. Mr. Deal is in charge of inter-city relations and reports that the new clubs will be of great assistance in unifying the San Fernando valley on civic projects.

Art and Its Influence Discussed by Sculptor

"Art and its Influence on the Community" was the subject of a talk yesterday at La Ramada by H. C. Swartz.

The occasion was the first informal public meeting of the newly organized Casa Verdugo Park and Art Association. One of its special purposes is to bring the artists and average citizen in closer contact.

A group of Peter Krasnow's impressionistic paintings were on exhibition.

Announce Engagement Of Italian Princess

ROME, Feb. 5.—The engagement of the Princess Yolanda, oldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena, to Count Calvi Di Bergoglio, a captain in the Italian army, was officially announced today. At one time it was reported the princess was about to become engaged to the Prince of Wales, heir to the English throne.

CRASH SENDS BOY INTO WINDSHIELD; FOILS DEATH

Escapes Serious Injury in Accident; Another Boy
'Grazed' by Auto

Several automobile accidents occurred in Glendale over the week end but no serious injuries resulted.

Donald McCoy, Los Angeles boy, about 8 o'clock this morning was pitched through the windshield of an automobile in which he was riding through Glendale, but escaped serious injury.

Ernest Dawson of 18 Delaware avenue, Hawthorne, with whom the lad was a passenger, was driving south on Central avenue. P. A. Lord of 1310 Spaulding avenue, Hollywood, was coming west on Colorado street.

According to Mr. Dawson, Mr. Lord's car ran into the rear of his machine and knocked it into a fire hydrant. A young geyser resulted.

Boy Escapes Injury
Danny Turner, a small boy who lives at 511 East Harvard street, escaped injury about 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the wagon he was pushing in the center of the street was grazed by an automobile driven by E. L. McGhee of 1230 East Broadway.

"I was driving west on Broadway and approaching Isabel street," remarked Mr. McGhee. "Another driver made a left hand turn without giving me a moment's notice. To avoid hitting him I turned to the left."

According to Mr. McGhee, he hardly touched the wagon which the boy was pushing and did not damage it. Danny was unhurt.

Police in Search for Show Girl's Ex-Mate

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Police renewed their efforts today to locate Robert S. (Bob) Savage, former husband of Geneva Mitchell, "Follies" girl, and former Yale student, following his absence of three days.

Several telegrams, sent to relatives in the east asking for money, are said to have been returned when payment on them was refused.

Possibility that young Savage may have taken his own life was strengthened when it was learned that shortly after the news had reached him that his eastern relatives refused to advance him money, he disappeared from sight, taking with him only a few personal belongings and a revolver.

Paul Rom to Greet 3 Children Tonight

Paul Rom, the tailor at 202 West Broadway, declared he's the happiest man in Glendale today. Here's why:

About two years ago Rom, formerly of New York City, came to Glendale and established a tailoring business. He prospered. He sent for Mrs. Rom. She arrived last May. And now the couple will be joined tonight by their three children, Lucy, Jeanette and Harry Rom, coming on from New York.

The Rom family is residing at 417 North Maryland. Of course, a big family reunion will take place tonight.

"I am exceedingly happy today," said Mr. Rom. "Do you blame me? The family will be together again tonight—no wonder I'm happy. The children gave up good positions to come here, but I've been boosting Glendale to them and they could no longer remain away."

Plan Organization of Burbank Rotary Club

More than a score of members of the Glendale Rotary club are planning to go to Burbank tomorrow night where a Rotary club will hold its organization at the Sunset Canyon Country club.

President Roy L. Kent asks that he be informed of all who will be present and requests they leave from his office at 6:30 p. m., on Tuesday evening.

FRENCH FIRE UPON SCHOOL CHILDREN. SAY GERMANS

1 Killed, Another Wounded
Is Claim; Extension to Lines of Occupation

BULLETIN
DUSSELDORF, Feb. 5.—French military authorities today offered 100,000 paper marks (less than $2) damages to the parents of the German school girl who was killed near the railway station by a French soldier. The French commandant said the killing was the result of carelessness by the soldier and he would be tried.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—No official confirmation had been received here up to noon today of the report from Mayence that nine Germans were killed by French soldiers during rioting at Ingelheim. According to the report, a German mob attacked the French after the train, manned by French railroaders, was derailed at Ingelheim.

Intense indignation has been aroused by news from Essen that a little German school girl was killed by a French corporal near the Dusseldorf railway station.

The Germans claim that the French fired upon a group of school children, wounding one, in addition to the child killed. The French commandant informed the mayor of the town that the shooting was accidental and that the corporal would be court-martialed.

French Extend Lines
In the middle Rhineland district the French have extended their occupation to include Kehl, Offenburg and Appenweier.

Reports of German casualties at the hands of the French have been arriving in a steady stream. A street railway conductor at Oberhausen was shot dead.

A German civilian was reported to have been killed by a French sentry at Broecklen.

At Essen the French fired machine guns over the heads of a crowd of German communists.

Second Gibraltar
Military experts declare that, while the British military position at Constantinople is not entirely secure, the British could hold Chanak against assaults by the whole Turkish army.

Since their occupation of Chanak, on the narrows of the Dardanelles, the British have transformed the garrison into a second Gibraltar. The garrison is supported by heavy long range guns and a heavy fleet anchored in the Dardanelles behind the land forces.

The breakdown of the Lausanne conference throws further strain upon the Anglo-French entente, as indications are growing that France is preparing to make a separate treaty with Turkey.

Hold-Up Victims Tell Experience to Police

Two attempted hold-ups occurred Saturday night in Glendale.

James A. Lucas of 225 South Glendale avenue reports that he was held up on Harvard street near Isabel street about 1:15 Sunday morning.

An attempt to rob the oil station at 710 South San Fernando road Saturday night failed. This business is operated by May Selover and his son, Roy Selover.

WAR CLOUDS AGAIN ARE THREATENING IN NEAR EAST

Great Britain Prepares for Any Eventuality; May Offer Concessions

BULLETIN
MALTA, Feb. 5.—Three British warships sailed today to reinforce the British fleet in Turkish waters.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—A cabinet meeting was hastily summoned for 6:30 o'clock this evening to discuss the Near East crisis. Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, who arrived during the afternoon, from Lausanne, prepared to report upon the breakdown of the Near East peace negotiations.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, Feb. 5.—Menacing clouds of war were hanging low over the Near East today as a result of the collapse of the Lausanne peace conference through refusal of the Turks to sign the treaty.

Advices from Athens and Constantinople said that both Greece and Turkey have renewed war preparations and are moving troops.

Great Britain is prepared for any eventuality in the Near East. If the Turks carry out their threat to resume hostilities, the British are prepared for it with a great fleet and a big army massed in Turkish ports.

The general impression is that Great Britain will "sit tight" for the time being, awaiting future developments. No move will be made in any direction until after the return of Lord Curzon from Lausanne and the convening of parliament next week.

Although some of the newspapers report that an outbreak of war is possible at once, belief is growing that Premier Bonar Law and his close advisers will make further concessions to the Turks rather than cause war.

Man Cremated

Restrictions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Immigration is to be still further restricted, it was decided today by the house immigration committee which voted to change the present 3 per cent law, based upon the census of 1910, to a two per cent law, based upon the census of 1890. Changes in the regulations, however, will permit a wider entry in certain classes, so that the total to be admitted each year would be only slightly less than under present law.

Dr. Young's plane was assembled by army mechanics and kept in readiness for five days a short time ago when army aviators were reported to have lost their way in Mexico.

RUSSIA BACK OF NEAR EAST BREAK IN PEACE PLANS; CLASH NEARS

Ottoman Makes Huge Bluff
Claim in Some Quarters;
Troops Being Massed

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The United States will proceed with the negotiation of a treaty of "amity and commerce" with Turkey despite the breakdown of the Lausanne conference, it was learned here today in official quarters.

Never having been at war with Turkey, and not being a direct party to the disputes that have again brought the Near East situation to the verge of renewed warfare, the American position was officially described as being largely unaffected by the collapse at Lausanne.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service
PARIS, Feb. 5.—Immediate resumption of war between Turkey and Greece was predicted today by the Matin. Official opinion was divided as to future developments in the Near East. Hope was expressed, however, that pressure could be brought upon the Turks to compel them to reopen peace negotiations with Greece and the allies.

In the background stands the sinister figure of Russia, urging Turkey to defy the allies and making promises of assistance.

Russia wants a strong Turkey, believing that a defensive alliance between Moscow and Ankara will be the final outcome of East developments.

Russians believe that, if the Turks can get all of Thrace and Mesopotamia, Turkey, with Russian support, will be able to demand sovereignty over the Turkish straits. This is the goal of Russian ambitions. It would bar foreign warships from menacing the Russian Black sea coast.

Warn of Attacks

ATHENS, Feb. 5.—Greek army commanders in western Thrace were ordered today to be on their guard against Turkish attacks, now that the Lausanne peace conference has been ruptured.

Greece has approximately 70,000 soldiers massed in Thrace against about 15,000 Turks.

Greek officials declared that if hostilities are resumed the Turks must make the first war-like movement.

Turkish forces in Thrace are constantly being reinforced. Military technicians from Russia and artillery from Odessa are being landed at Black seaports in large numbers.

Belief exists in some quarters that Turkey is making a huge bluff and does not intend to reopen the war unless a conflict begins in Central Europe. In such an event, the Turks would take advantage of the general turbulence throughout Europe to renew hostilities.

May Call Conference

LAUSANNE, Feb. 5.—Efforts may be made today to convene another Near East peace conference to avert resumption of war in the Near East, it was reported here today. When the French delegation, headed by M. Bompard, departed for Paris, it was announced that no official notification had been served upon Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish envoys, that the Lausanne conference was at an end.

M. Bompard refused to discuss the possibility of a separate treaty between France and Turkey.

ROBBER HOLDS UP PROPRIETOR OF CANDY STORE

Thief Rifles Cash Register as Victim Cowers From Bandit's Pistol

"Hold up your hands!" said a well-dressed stranger as he entered the Rutledge Candy Shop in Eagle Rock at 9 o'clock last night, "and be quick about it, as I am in a hurry." The proprietor, Mrs. W. J. Rutledge, lost no time in complying with the command. The robber then walked across the room, covering Mrs. Rutledge with a six-shooter with one hand and with the other rifled the cash register. He then backed out the door with the gun still pointed at the frightened woman and shuffled off down the street.

"I was never so frightened in my life," said Mrs. Rutledge, while relating her experience this morning to a representative of The News. "I was sitting in the back part of the room when the man entered and naturally started to rise to wait on him. But I had scarcely made a move when the command came. You can rest assured that I lost no time in raising my arms as high as they would go, and I really don't know just when I took them down."

Police are called. As soon as Mrs. Rutledge regained her presence of mind she rushed outside in search of help. Just at this time John Wheeler, manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company of this district, who has a location at 116 South Castle, drove up in his car. Mrs. Rutledge managed to convey the news to him and he, in turn, called up the police department. The night men at once began a search for the robber and brought one suspect before Mrs. Rutledge, but she was unable to identify the man as the one who had held her up.

Mrs. Rutledge was so frightened at the time that she was unable to give a description of the man.

These and other requisites he applied to the race of life.

During the meeting word numbers were given by Miss Arnold and Harry Marple.

able to give an accurate description of the man. She said, however, that he was of middle age, and well dressed. He wore an overcoat with the collar turned up covering the lower part of his face.

Mrs. Rutledge said, to the best of her knowledge, he secured $6 or $7 in small change and two one-dollar bills. After he had put the contents of the till into his pockets he asked if that was all she had and was told that was every cent in the house. The robber made no attempt to search the premises.

The candy shop is ideally located for the commission of such a crime. It is a half block off Colorado boulevard and on a street little traversed during the evening hours, particularly on Sunday, as at that time the stores on either side are closed. The robber had evidently made himself acquainted with these facts and further that Mrs. Rutledge was the only one in the store at that hour.

CHRISTIAN RACE, RIMMER'S THEME

Farewell Address of Course Delivered to Crowd at Central Church

The farewell message of Harry Rimmer to Glendale young people was given last night to a crowded auditorium at the Central Christian church.

"The Christian Race" was the subject taken by Mr. Rimmer, and in introduction he read the following message from Hebrews 12-1.

"Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a crowd of witnesses let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the author and the finisher of our faith."

Mr. Rimmer must have been an athlete and contestant in the Olympic games, is the opinion of Mr. Rimmer from the above text.

Marathon Runner. Mr. Rimmer is particularly qualified for speaking on the race of life for he himself is a runner of world-wide fame, holding the world's record for the Marathon.

At the time Mr. Rimmer won the race the distance was twenty-six miles 285 yards, and he did it in two hours and fifty-four minutes. Since that time the race has been shortened to twenty-five miles.

To bring his message to his hearers he told of the handicap of over-weight to the runner and fitness of condition necessary for success.

These and other requisites he applied to the race of life.

During the meeting word numbers were given by Miss Arnold and Harry Marple.

During the meeting word numbers were given by Miss Arnold and Harry Marple.

able to give an accurate description of the man. She said, however, that he was of middle age, and well dressed. He wore an overcoat with the collar turned up covering the lower part of his face.

Mrs. Rutledge said, to the best of her knowledge, he secured $6 or $7 in small change and two one-dollar bills. After he had put the contents of the till into his pockets he asked if that was all she had and was told that was every cent in the house. The robber made no attempt to search the premises.

The candy shop is ideally located for the commission of such a crime. It is a half block off Colorado boulevard and on a street little traversed during the evening hours, particularly on Sunday, as at that time the stores on either side are closed. The robber had evidently made himself acquainted with these facts and further that Mrs. Rutledge was the only one in the store at that hour.

TIDAL WAVE LOSS AT HAWAII HEAVY

Property Damage May Now Reach $2,500,000; Loss Of Life Is Light

HONOLULU, Feb. 5.—A survey started today was expected to reveal the full extent of the damage caused to the Hawaiian island group by the five tidal waves which Saturday dealt death and destruction.

Property loss is expected to exceed $2,500,000. Loss of life is believed to have been confined to Hilo, where twelve are thought to have lost their lives although a definite check has not been completed.

All the dead were Japanese and included one child washed from a sampan, which was caught on the crest of the first huge wave.

Fail To Locate 'Quake' SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Endeavors to locate the center of the extensive earthquakes which Saturday threw seismic graph recording apparatus out of commission all over the world had been unsuccessful today.

Some scientists expressed the opinion that the location might never be known.

"Somewhere in the Pacific some great range of mountains now in the process of formation may have been elevated a short distance—perhaps hundreds of feet," Captain J. J. See, head of the United States naval observatory at Mare Island said today.

He expressed the opinion that the disturbance was either off the southern California or Mexican coast of North America—probably some distance at sea—or in the Aleutian islands which form a rim for the upper navigable reaches of the Pacific.

Based Upon Time. His opinion was based on the time it required the tidal waves to hit Hawaii. The earthquakes reached maximum intensity Saturday at about 9:30 a. m. Pacific coast time, and the tidal waves hit Hawaii at 2:30 Pacific coast time—a time interval of five hours.

Father Rivard, noted seismologist, placed the center of the 'quake midway in the Aleutian Islands, 2965 miles northwest of San Francisco.

Some observers expressed belief that center of disturbances was the Samoan archipelago in the south Pacific. Difficulty in communicating by wireless with Tutuila, Samoa, caused fears to be felt that the islands might have been destroyed. However, wireless advice to International News Service from Honolulu said no damage had been reported from Samoa. The same advice came from Guam, another mid-Pacific island.

Fear New Tidal Wave May Accompany Quake

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—The possibility that another tidal wave such as destroyed thousands of lives a few months ago in South America, may have accompanied the severe earth shocks that were recorded in various parts of the country was expressed here by Brother George E. Ruppel, in charge of the seismograph at the St. Louis university.

The instruments here located the disturbance at approximately 4900 miles in a southeasterly direction at a point off the north coast of Chile.

Glendale Nature Notes

By ESTELLE DARRAH DYKE, 405 East Stocker St., Glendale

John Muir tells us that on the great California plain four species of wild flowers were in bloom by the end of January.

Nature lovers in Glendale are more fortunate. During the last week in January they could find nine or ten varieties of wild flowers in an hour's walk from any home. The roadside to the nearest canyon is bordered by the stiff, wiry stems of the Telegraph plant, substituting for leaves its wealth of blossoms, pink, purple and white.

The Golden Aster, as hated and as beautiful a plant as the dandelion of the poem, "fringes the dusty way with harmless gold," as Lowell puts it. The wild mustard here is a vigorous and lusty shrub, and even the dodder's orange vine, sucking the life from the pepper tree, puts forth lovely spheres of white blossoms.

The mouth of the canyon is shielded by a towering mass of wild sunflowers, in Europe the "star of St. Bartholomew," whose day is August 24 in less favored regions. We approve the custom of the Temple virgins of ancient Peru in wearing crowns patterned after this gold, and push on to examine a beautiful little tree for leaves its wealth of blossoms, pink, purple and white.

INCREASE SHOWN IN TAX RECEIPTS

Movie Theatre Admissions
Yield Quarter Million,
Says Collector

All records for sales tax collections in the Los Angeles district were smashed by the January receipts of Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell's office.

Total sales tax receipts were $545,345.35, showing a gain over January, 1922, of 37 per cent and reflecting up-grade business conditions that are peculiar to southern California.

An outstanding feature of Collector Goodcell's report was the collection of $261,792.43 for tax on admissions to motion picture theatres and other places of entertainment, indicating that $2,700,000 was spent by citizens of southern California during December for amusement. These figures break the record for any previous month in the history of the Los Angeles district, showing an increase of approximately 45 per cent over the corresponding period of last year.

Figures On Movies

The theatre tax collected in January represents a tax-paid and tax-free attendance at motion picture theatres and other places of amusement for the month of December of 15,000,000. In other words every man, woman and child in the district visited places of amusement eleven times during the month.

Collector Goodcell, in pointing out the enormous growth in attendance at the motion picture theatres, referred to the fact that the total admission tax collected for the entire year of 1918 was only $582,060, as compared with receipts of $261,792.43 for January of this year alone. Tax on ten-cent admissions and passes included in the 1918 receipts does not figure in the 1922 collections as this tax was repealed last year.

Taxes On Jewels

Taxes collected on jewelry amounted to $149,811.56, as against $107,140.24 for January, 1922, an increase of 40 per cent. This tax represents sales by retail dealers of approximately $3,000,000 worth of jewelry during December, compared with sales of $2,150,000 in December, 1921.

Manufacturers' excise tax collections for January were $129,333.55, against $116,526.75 for January, 1922, indicating a healthy growth in local manufacturing.

Income tax receipts were $430,926.06, an increase over January, 1922, of 26 per cent, as compared with decreased income tax collections for the United States as a whole of 30 per cent.

PREDICTS RAISE IN STEEL PRICES

Steel Corporation Chairman
Expects Good Business
In Next 3 Months

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Steel prices will follow in the wake of wholesale commodity prices generally and are headed toward higher levels, according to Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation. However, he declared that the tendency to higher figures will not decrease the demand and stated he looked for a good general business which should make "current business in the new quarter more profitable."

Judge Gary deplored the scarcity of labor, which he attributed to the selective immigration law, and declared that the various subsidiaries of the steel corporation are handicapped because of the shortage of help. The plant in the Pittsburgh district, he declared, is running 85 per cent of capacity due to the lack of labor.

Explains Statement

Judge Gary explained why the steel corporation statement, issued recently, while showing a large increase in business, failed to earn the full dividend on the common shares. Operating costs had advanced much faster than prices could catch up, he pointed out, adding that a recent wage increase in the corporation added $4,000,000 monthly to their payroll.

"We were crowded with old orders obtained before the wage increase was ordered," he said, "and we fill orders in the order accepted, irrespective of prices. Now we are about caught up on old business taken at former prices and current business in the new quarter ought to be more profitable."

Oil King's Widow Asks Annulment of Divorce

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The divorce decree obtained January 11, by Mrs. George Hamon Rohrer, against William L. Rohrer, a wealthy clubman, was set aside on Mrs. Rohrer's petition.

At the time of the divorce Mrs. Rohrer, widow of the late Oklahoma oil king, Jake Hamon, refused alimony on the grounds her share in the $16,000,000 estate of her former husband was sufficient to keep her. Today she testified that since that time she had learned the Hamon estate is insolvent and there is nothing for her.

She is expected to sue again for divorce asking support from Rohrer, whose attorneys state they will fight any effort to obtain alimony.

HEAD OF SCOUTS TELLS PROGRESS

Strong Glendale Delegation
At Meeting to Welcome
Chief Executive

California and Region Twelve, of which it is a part, stand higher in Scouting and have made more advancement in the promotion of the Boy Scout movement than any other state in the union," declared James E. West, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, in an address to more than 600 Scout leaders and Council Members of Southern California, recently, at the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A.

"It was a wonderfully inspirational meeting," declared A. R. Eastman, president of the local Scout Council. "Scout officials were gathered there all the way from Bakersfield to San Diego. I was very much pleased with the delegation from Glendale, which consisted of one of the largest groups present. Our men boosted Glendale and the Verdugo Hills District with all the noise we could and before we were through everyone of the 600 men knew where the 'fastest growing city in America' was situated. Those in our delegation were George B. Karr, Harry Girard, Col. James W. Berington, Peter L. Perry, James Guinn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Charles L. Chandler, Frank C. Ayars, Charles H. Toll, E. E. Harwood, D. W. Pollard, Harold Benner, and myself. C. W. Angier and A. C. Cox from La Crescenta were also of our party as was Roy B. Sanders of Eagle Rock, and Dr. E. H. Wilson of Burbank."

According to Mr. West, there are now 250 troops of Boy Scouts organized in the state of California with a membership of 15,000 boys.

Since Mr. West's last visit to California three years ago the number of Boy Scouts has more than tripled, and every district in the entire state has now at least five troops.

Mr. West will remain in Los Angeles until Sunday, attending a series of meetings with the Boy Scouts and scout officials of Southern California.

Detroit Doctor Gives Life to Aid Science

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—Dr. Edward S. Crump has passed away of sleeping sickness, contracted during a series of experiments to find a cure for the disease in others.

On his death bed Dr. Crump requested his colleagues to hold an autopsy over his body immediately after his death to determine whether or not sleeping sickness was the cause. The autopsy revealed, the physicians said, that he died a martyr to science.

And now, when a crisis appears breathing fire, statement merely yawn and go out for another round of golf.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Will C. Wood Is Excited
Assemblyman Weller Home
France To Enter Berlin?
Glad To Reach Southland

By Gil A. Cowan

IN matters educational throughout the state there is bound to be something stirring with Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, challenging the governor's recommendations accompanying the biennial budget. Wood assumes that his organization has been wrecked.

Now that is likely what Friend W. Richardson intended, for within the schools a political organization has been effected which has become malodorous to the rank and file of taxpayers. As one elderly gentleman, not in politics, expressed it, "The people of California have gone crazy over education."

This patriarch of many a wintry storm, whose hair is silvered by years of sales experience, proceeded to point to the many ridiculous things which have been perpetrated in the name of education by the schools and colleges of this state.

"When I went to school back in York county," he confided, "we used to have to wipe three inches of snow from the pine desks while a slip of a girl handled a class of fifty or sixty pupils. And while we didn't have the opportunities of the youngsters nowadays, some of the greatest men in American history came from that common school."

All must admit that he is more than half right and while Governor Richardson's recommendation may be bitter medicine, nevertheless it will create a storm which will set the people to thinking and public opinion will deal differently hereafter for some years to come with school problems.

Incidentally, Will C. Wood was considered gubernatorial timber until he broadcast his answer to the governor. By his hasty challenge of the governor he has unknowingly defeated his prospects unless his political organization, by combining with others disgruntled at losing their jobs for economy's sake, succeed in making impeachment proceedings effective. And they propose to attempt that very thing, it is hinted.

The forestry workers, the immigration and housing officials, and others hard hit by the new regime are being united by the same interests which opposed Richardson's election, it is said, and there is no question but what they will stir all the trouble such a mixture can make.

So much for that. It's all in a day's work.

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, who now is home from Sacramento, made quite a record for a novice in matters political, although he is a lawyer. In the interest of his several bills and resolutions he has pressed his case so systematically before committees that victory seems to be his without opposition.

Of importance to all California is the Raker resolution, memorializing congress to pass an appropriation of $250,000 for a preliminary survey of a military and commercial highway system for the Pacific coast. The senate adopted the resolution.

In the matter of a bill accepting the terms of the Sheppard-Towner Maternity act, Mr. Weller obtained permission of the senate to present a prominent clubwoman who addressed them Friday noon on the need for this legislation.

Unless Germany evidences a spirit of co-operation in the Ruhr situation, France will occupy Berlin until the defaulting nation has made a settlement of her war debts, an experienced diplomatist assured the writer in discussing that new phase of the complicated international strife across the Atlantic, all of which is bound to strain relations of the entente alliance and perhaps precipitate a war with Russia—something not to be relished. And if England and France become embroiled with the soviet there is no question but what Turkey will be found at the old stand, doing massacre to Christians and retaining the powers lost to the Ottoman empire during the last world war.

At this safe distance no one can make predictions, but it is interesting to read between the lines of the daily dispatches and see "what will happen next."

It must seem good to be back in southern California after a month of enforced, duration of Northern California and its rain and fog and clouds. Ask Assemblyman Frank George Davis Weller if it isn't so.

The writer was with them at Sacramento when the sun began to shine only after it was announced the legislature would recess this past week-end. You ought to have seen the contingent from the sunny southland pack their bags and baggage into motorcars and hie away.

At that, all California climate is comparatively good. The weather was mild at the capital, if not clear, and it escaped the snowstorm which painted the "green Verdugo Hills" a different color than that which John Steven McGoarty patriotically alludes to in every spoken or written paragraph.

Perhaps it is the variety in the Golden state that gives the tourist far greater pleasure than the pure, unadulterated sunshine which we advertise.

PASS ARMY BILL, IS SENATE'S AIM

Leaders Rally Support to Force Administration
Bill's Passage

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—

Flushed by their victorious repulsion of attacks against the Lenroot-Anderson farm credits bill, last of the rural relief measures to pass the senate, administration leaders have mustered full forces to push the army appropriations bill to speedy enactment.

This, the final big supply bill, carrying an increase of approximately $20,000,000 over the house figures, is the second measure remaining on the administration's "must" calendar at this session. The other is the proposal to change the debt funding law to meet the terms of the British-American commissioners.

Opposition Looms

Despite plans by Republican leaders, there appeared little doubt today the army bill would encounter unusually hard sailing in the senate's muddled legislative sea. Three items, particularly, were assailed today by as many elements in the senate. These were:

1. The appropriation of $56,000,000 for rivers and harbors, representing an increase of $28,000,000 over the estimate by the budget bureau.

2. The authorization for a total army establishment of 137,000 men, 125,000 enlisted personnel and 12,000 officers. While this is the present strength, the "small army" group wants to slash further the size of the army.

3. The appropriation for work on Dam No. 2 at the government's power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

ELKS URGE CURB ON DOPE TRAFFIC

President Assures Delegates
He Will Support Move
To Halt Drug Evil

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Harding has expressed hearty sympathy with the purpose of resolutions adopted by Elks lodges throughout the country urging more stringent regulations to curb the narcotic drug evil in the United States.

Everything possible would be done, he told a delegation of Elks headed by William Sinek of Chicago, to insure stricter enforcement of the anti-narcotic laws in this country.

Sinek told the president that the growing use of habit-forming drugs had become a greater danger to the country, and presented the Elks resolution urging the President to call an international conference to curb the drug traffic.

"We believe," Sinek said, "that the source of this evil does not lie necessarily within the United States but in the freedom with which the drugs are produced in other lands and in the great international traffic in the commodity."

A similar request for an international anti-drug conference, in the form of a resolution signed by 600,000 members of the Moose lodge, was presented to the President by Secretary of Labor Davis.

Senator Pays Respects To 'Subsidized Press'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Though twice rebuked by the senate for interferences against other senators, Senator Tom Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama, assailed what he termed the "subsidized press" for carrying unfair accounts of the uproarious proceedings in the senate during the last two days of last week.

In order to protect ourselves, it may be necessary to invoke rules to prohibit certain representatives of the subsidized newspapers the privilege of the press gallery," he said.

Heflin denied his attacks impugned the motives of Senator Wadsworth of New York, or any other senator.

"Every newspaper carried untrue reports of what happened," said the Alabama senator, who read accounts from metropolitan newspapers.

"Of course," continued Heflin, "I understand they are going to 'frame' the senator from Iowa (Brookhart). They are going to 'lecture' him pretty soon, and I hope I'm here that day to help beat them down."

State Senator Lewis Is Not for Blue Laws

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 5.—Charles H. V. Lewis, state senator from the thirty-eighth senatorial district, is not for blue laws. He says so himself, in answer to claims that he was going to lead a fight to have blue laws passed by the legislature.

"I am not for blue laws and I am against censorship of the motion pictures," declared Senator Lewis. "I still believe in democracy and personal liberty and the common sense of the people to take care of themselves. Further, I do not believe that any such legislation has a chance in this senate."

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Billy could see a light showing through a small window, and toward this he made his way. A short distance from Jose's is another, larger structure from which the former inhabitants had fled the wrath of Pesita. It was dark and apparently tenanted; but as a matter of fact a pair of eyes glanced at the very moment of Billy's coming to be looking out through the open doorway.

The owner turned and spoke to someone behind him.

"Jose has another visitor," he said. "Possibly this one is less harmless than the other. He comes with great caution. Let us investigate."

Three other men rose from their blankets upon the floor and joined the speaker. They were all armed and clothed in the desert uniforms of Villistas. Billy's back was toward them as they sneaked from the hut in which they were intending to spend the night, and crept quietly toward him.

Billy was busily engaged in peering through the little window into the interior of the old Indian's hovel. He saw an American in earnest conversation with Jose. What could the man be? Billy did not recognize him; but presently Jose answered the question.

"It shall be as you wish, Señor Grayson," he said.

"Ah!" thought Billy, "the foreman of El Orobo. I wonder what business he has with this old scoundrel at night."

What other thoughts Billy might have had upon the subject were rudely interrupted by four energetic gentlemen in his rear, who leaped upon him simultaneously and dragged him to the ground. Billy made no outcry; but he fought none the less strenuously for his freedom, and he fought after the manner of Grand Avenue, which is not a pretty, however effective, way it may be.

But four against one when all the advantages lie with the four are heavy odds, and when Grayson and Jose ran out to investigate, and the ranch foreman added his weight to that of the others, Billy was finally subdued. That each of his antagonists would carry mementoes of the battle for many days was slight compensation for the loss of liberty. However it was so.

After disarming his captive and tying his hands at his back they jerked him to his feet and examined him.

"Who are you?" asked Grayson. "What do you do?" sneaked Billy round spyn' on me, eh?"

"If you wanna know who I am, ho," replied Billy, "go ask do Harlem Hurricane, an' as fer spyn' on youse, I wasn't; but from do looks I guess youse need spyn' yuh tihorn."

A pony whinnied a short distance from the hut.

"That must be his horse," said one of the Villistas, and walked away to investigate, returning shortly with the pinto pony and Brazos.

The moment Grayson saw the latter he gave an exclamation of understanding.

"I know him now," he said. "You've made a good catch, Sergeant. This is the fellow who robbed the bank at Cuivaca. I recognize him from the description I've had of him, but the fact that he's got the Brazos pony makes it a cinch. Villa oughter promote you for this."

"Yep," interjected Billy, "he order make youse an admiral at least; but youse ain't got me home yet, an' it'll take more'n a four Dagoes an' a tin-horn to do it."

"They'll get you there all right, my friend," said Grayson. "Now come along."

They bundled Billy into his own saddle, and shortly after the little party was winding southward along the river in the direction of El Orobo Rancho, with the intention of putting up there for the balance of the night where their prisoner could be properly secured and guarded. As they rode away from the dilapidated hut of the Indian the old man stood silhouetted against the rectangle of dim light which marked the open doorway, and shook his fist at the back of the departing ranch foreman.

"El cochino!" he cackled and turned back into his hut. At El Orobo Rancho Barbara walked to and fro outside the ranchhouse. Within her father's reading beneath the rays of an oil lamp. From the quarters of the men came the strains of guitar music, and an occasional loud laugh indicated the climax of some Eddie Shorter's famous Kansas farmer stories.

Barbara was upon the point of returning indoors when her attention was attracted by the approach of a half-dozen horsemen. They reined into the ranchyard and dismounted before the office building. Wondering a little who came so late, Barbara entered the house, mentioning casually to her father that which she had just seen.

The ranch owner, now always fearful of attack, was upon the point of investigation when Grayson rode up to the veranda and dismounted. Barbara and her father were at the door as he ascended the steps.

"Good news!" exclaimed the foreman. "I've got the bank robber, and Brazos, too. Caught the sneak'n' coyote up to—up the river a bit." He had almost said "Jose's," but caught himself just in time. "Someone's been cuttin' the wire at the north side of the north pasture, an' I was ridin' up to see if I could catch 'em at it," he explained.

"He is an American?" asked the boss.

"Looks like it; but he's got the heart of a greaser," replied Grayson. "Some of Villa's men are with me, and they're a-goin' to take him to Cuivaca tomorrow."

Neither Barbara nor her father seemed to enthuse much. To them an American was an American here in Mexico, where every hand was against their race. That at home they might have looked on the subject with some other eyes did not alter their attitude here, that no American should take sides against his people. Barbara said as much to Grayson.

"Why this fellow's one of Pesita's officers," exclaimed Grayson. "He don't deserve no sympathy from us nor from no other Americans. Pesita has sworn to kill every American that falls into his hands, and this fellow's with him to help him do it. He's a bad un."

"I can't help what he may do," insisted Barbara. "He's an American, and I for one would never be a party to his death at the hands of a Mexican, and it will mean death to him to be taken to Cuivaca."

"Well, miss," said Grayson, "you won't hev to be responsible. I'll just take all the responsibility there is and welcome. I just thought you'd like to know we had him."

He was addressing his employee. The latter nodded, and Grayson turned and left the room. Outside he cast a sneering laugh back over his shoulder and swung into his saddle.

In front of the men's quarters he drew rein again and shouted Eddie's name. Shorter came to the door.

"Get your six-shooter an' a rifle, an' come on over to the office. I want to see you a minute."

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Training of rising generation may be adopted by San Francisco to guard against future incompetency in handling autos, writes Ellis H. Martin.

TOMORROW—Karl M. Elish, Berlin correspondent, declares that the impression of an American having "an easy time of it" in Germany at the present writing is decidedly false.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Will a solution of the automobile problem come through careful training of the upcoming generation? Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien and Captain Henry Gleeson, the city's traffic expert, believe that in such training lies the solution of the ever-increasing problem of speeding motor cars and carelessness on the part of pedestrians.

The board of education thinks so well of the plan that they have agreed to co-operate with O'Brien and Gleeson in testing the idea in San Francisco public schools.

The police officials plan the organization within the schools of the public school traffic reserve. The plan will embrace all grammar schools and include all pupils. They will be thoroughly instructed as to the reasons for care against accidents from vehicular traffic.

The course will educate the members of the organization in the control of street traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian.

A knowledge and practice of all safety first laws and regulations will be given.

The traffic reserve will have a semi-military organization being divided into fifty companies, commanded by a colonel, staff officers and five battalion majors. The course outlined by O'Brien and Gleeson will include control of vehicular and pedestrian traffic at street intersections and upon streets between street intersections, the knowledge and use of the traffic whistle and hand signals used by the police department, the control of students in the control of street traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian.

Captain Gleeson believes that not only will the future generation benefit, but that traffic accidents will be materially decreased immediately. Children, he points out, are to a large extent victims of traffic accidents in the streets of the larger cities. He believes it is possible to reach and interest parents through the children. The experiment will be watched by other cities with great interest and, if a success here, may be expected to spread all over the United States.

"At home" days of welcome to all friends of the army, during which barracks will be open for the entertainment of relatives and friends of enlisted men, are to be held at stated intervals. On these days concerts are to be given, and the officers and their families will entertain informally. Special events and demonstrations are to be planned for the edification of the visitors. An army day is planned for the fall of 1923 which will exhibit a complete demonstration of army activities, accompanied by social events in the way of luncheons, entertainments, games, receptions and banquets.

A new game species has been added to the fauna of California, already famous for the successful introduction of various food fishes. This time, instead of being a fish, it is the bullfrog, source of the delectable "frog's legs" viands heretofore accessible largely to the easterner. For some time "frog farms" have been a success in a commercial way, and now Professor Tracey I. Storer of the University of California, tells of the successful introduction of the bullfrog into the ponds of the state for the edification of the hunter.

A rapid increase of frogs in several localities where they have been introduced through efforts of the state fish and game commissioner, according to Professor Storer, makes it probable that ere many years the frog and flannel will be a familiar sight along streams, and the frog hunter, with his small-bore gun and shot cartridges, will attract the attention of the game wardens.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

IMPULSE TRANSMITTERS
As this type of transmitter has been used exclusively on shipboard, where the range of wave lengths is arbitrarily fixed by regulations, the wave length of the closed circuit is generally fixed about 700 meters. The open antenna circuit is similar in design to the four circuit transmitter and bearing in mind that the closed circuit of the impulse type remains constant, the antenna can be tuned to wave lengths varying from 60 to as low as 200 meters without a change in the closed circuit. This makes the impulse transmitter a non-resonant one. The action in actual transmission is best described by the use of a well known analogy. Suppose we strike the "C" note on a piano, all other "C" notes in the instrument will respond in unison without being touched, but no other note will vibrate. This has been fully discussed under the subject of resonance in the explanatory articles in these series. However, if we were to lift the piano up and drop it, or give the case of the instrument a mighty blow with a heavy projectile all the strings in the piano would respond and vibrate. Hence we find that, although the strings of the piano vibrate with the blow, it was not because of any resonant relation between the blow and the strings, but because of the "kick" or "crack" imparted to them. Now, in the case of the impulse transmitter we find that the antenna circuit, consisting of inductance and capacity, has a natural period of its own and will oscillate at that period, depending upon the amount of inductance and capacitance contained therein. The closed circuit, however, is considered non-oscillatory, but given a large condenser discharge it corresponds to the heavy blow or kick given the piano and will cause the antenna to oscillate. This method of excitation is called "impulse" excitation, "shock" excitation or "whip-crack" excitation.

One of the advantages of this type of apparatus is the absence of numerous adjustments. Having an arbitrary, steady, closed circuit, the only adjustments necessary are those in the antenna circuit. Within certain limits it will radiate several wave lengths without any attempt at resonance. (Continued in next issue.)

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RUBBERS
"Don't go out today, Uncle Wiggily," advised Nurse Jane. "Fuzzy Wuzzie in the hollow stump bungalow one morning. 'Stay in and give your pink, twinkling nose a rest.'"

"Why so?" asked the buny rabbit gentleman. "Why shouldn't I go out this day and have an adventure, as I do every day?"

"Oh, it's so slushy and slushy," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "First it snowed and then it rained and now it is just terrible out! You'll get your paws wet and your rheumatism will pain you."

Uncle Wiggily, who had finished his breakfast of carrot pancakes with maple sugar sprinkled around the edges, hopped to the window of his hollow stump bungalow and looked out. As Nurse Jane had said the ground was covered with water and snow and slush, which is a mixture of snow and water.

"I guess it will be all right to go out if I wear my rubbers," said the buny rabbit gentleman. "I'll wear the nice overshoes you made for me, Nurse Jane, out of the leaves from the rubber plant."

"Oh, dear," sighed Nurse Jane. "I just know something will happen to you, Uncle Wiggily."

And it did.

Uncle Wiggily put on his rubbers and started to hop from his hollow stump bungalow. He had not gone very far, and he was thinking what fun it was to slush around in the slush, when he heard a voice.

"Oh, you Uncle Wiggily," the voice called.

Quickly the rabbit gentleman turned around. At first he thought it might be the Fuzzy Fox or the Skilley Scallery Alligator, but when he looked a second time he saw Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, hopping along after him.

"Why, Baby Bunty, you shouldn't be out in all this slushy slush," exclaimed Mr. Longears. "You'll get your paws wet."

"I have on my new Christmas rubber boots," said Baby Bunty. "I am going adventuring with you, Uncle Wiggily. See, I have a penny. Will you please take me to the lollypop store?"

"Oh, dear," sighed Nurse Jane. "Uncle Wiggily, good natured like. 'Hop along.'"

So the buny gentleman and the little rabbit girl hopped along together, until all of a sudden, after they had crossed over a rather deep and slushy-sloshy puddle, Baby Bunty called out:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! You've lost one of your rubbers!"

"Eh? What's that?" asked Mr. Longears, for just then his pink nose began to twinkle and he couldn't hear very well.

"I say you've lost one of your rubbers," repeated Baby Bunty. "It's back there—stuck in the slush!"

And, surely enough, one of the buny's rubbers had come off his paw and was fast in the puddle.

Back he hopped on one leg.

He pawed in the rubber and tried to pull it out. At first he couldn't, but after a while he did, and he hopped on a little way and then, his left rubber became stuck again, and that pulled off.

"Oh, dear, this is terrible!" said the bunny uncle. "First one and then the other!"

And that's just how it happened. No sooner did he get his left paw rubber unstuck than his right paw rubber would become stuck. And when his right paw rubber was unstuck then his left paw rubber would come off.

"Nurse Jane was right!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "I never should have come out in all this slush."

"And that isn't the worst!" cried Baby Bunty. "See, the Fox is coming! Run! Run!"

But Uncle Wiggily couldn't run, because his rubbers kept sticking in the slush. And the Fox would have caught him, except that just then along came Curly and Floppy Twinstail, the piggie boys, wearing rubber boots and dragging their sled. Uncle Wiggily got on the sled and the piggie boys pulled him safely away from the Fox, and Baby Bunty rode on behind.

So everything ended happily and the next day Uncle Wiggily bought himself a pair of rubber boots.

So if the hands of the clock will turn the ice cream freezer until it grinds the coffee for breakfast, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tickler.

They Say That

Governor Richardson, in reporting a budget more than $12,000,000 less than the total appropriations of two years ago, has taken a very gratifying and advanced step toward the redemption of his pledge to the people of California to inaugurate a regime of wholesome retrenchment at Sacramento.

Assurance is given, from Governor Richardson's office, that the budget proposed "will provide ample support for all state institutions." As the estimated revenues will exceed the budget by more than $1,000,000 it is not necessary to recommend other sources of revenue. In other words, by Governor Richardson's plan, no additional taxes will be piled upon the people—which is exceedingly comforting to the taxpayer.

The people are watching with sympathetic interest this earnest endeavor at Sacramento to put the affairs of government on a businesslike level and to make retrenchment a fixed policy, without impairing the efficiency or crippling the usefulness of any public institution. The people should have this boon—this relief from heavy taxation constantly increasing. A permanent policy of businesslike economy should obviate any increase in taxes and eventually make it possible to bring about reductions.

Row Over Peace Pact Predicted in Senate
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A forerunner of the brewing fight over America's foreign policy came in the senate when, after Senator King, Democrat, Utah, had read a statement by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, urging the United States to offer its good offices to settle the present troubles between France and Germany, Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, charged the treaty of Versailles was largely responsible for Europe's existing condition.

This caused Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, to rally to the defense of the Versailles pact, saying that if America had signed it "there would be no crumbling conditions in Europe today."

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

CATS AND ENVY

Envy is supposed to be a very ugly thing.

But there are certain circumstances under which it can be turned to pleasing usages.

Pleasing, that is, to the person who is envied.

It is not nice to envy people but it is very nice to have people envy you.

A great many of the things we want in life we want so much for the use we shall get out of them, or our joy in their beauty, or because we want other people to envy us their possession.

Envy Is Flattery

Imitation is said to be the sincerest form of flattery.

Envy is another form. If it's genuine envy it is the sincerest kind of flattery, but even when it isn't quite so genuine as it sounds, it still is pleasant flattery.

Any one who is anxious to win popularity by any and all means should study psychology of envy.

The person who always tries to make his own lot seem the most desirable in the world may win our envy but he won't win our affection.

Whereas the person who tries to make our lot seem specially desirable, makes us feel that he or she envies us, will certainly win our affection. That is if you can call the feeling which the cat feels for the person who strokes it affection.

Makes You Feel You're Lucky

I think we have all met the kind of person I have in mind. If you have children and she has none she makes you feel how lonesome it is without children, how lucky you are to have them, and how lonesome life is without them.

But, if she has children and you have none, she makes you feel what a wonderful thing your freedom is—of course she wouldn't give up her babies for anything in the world but it certainly must be wonderful to be able to travel about as you do.

If you live in the country and she in the city she sings you a song of the joys of country life and runs down the dirty, tiresome, noisy city; if you live in the city and she in the country, she envies you your wonderful chance to hear music and go to theaters and lectures.

If she has a large income and you have a small one she talks about the happy times when she used to have a limited income (as if all incomes weren't limited!) and says she never has been so happy since.

And you, why you feel just like the cat that has had its back stroked, and naturally you associate pleasant feelings with the person who does the stroking.

They Really Like Cats

As I read this over, I feel that I have done an injustice.

To be sure there are people who do this sort of thing deliberately to make themselves popular. But I imagine there are many other people who do it with no such deliberate end in view, but simply from natural kindness.

They want to make people feel happy and that is a way to do it. They stroke the cat because they like cats and they know cats like to be stroked, not because they are trying to ingratiate themselves with the cat.

Will they please accept my apologies for my cynical first paragraphs?

Merchants, Watch Out For This Trick Bag

Latest in shoplifting, m.

A traveling bag with a slip bottom was alleged to have been the apparatus used by Mrs. Ida Kinchla and Mrs. Nora Stuart, of Brighton, Massachusetts, in stealing goods in a Boston department store. The bag is placed over an article on a counter, whence the loot is pulled through into the bag. Here is a picture of the latest in shoplifting.

Diet and Health

ACIDOSIS OR ACID INTOXICATION

F. F. F.'s, Read This.

This is not an article solely for our reducing class. It is of general interest, but I particularly want you who are reducing to read it, for it has a special message for you.

I take it for granted that you all know what acids are. Alkalies are the opposite to acids. Sodium bicarbonate is an example of an alkali. The blood and tissue fluids normally are slightly alkaline and probably never in life become actually acid. However, when there is an abnormal reduction of the alkalinity of the blood, even though it does not actually become acid, the condition we call acidosis or acid-intoxication results.

This may be severe or mild. The severe grades of acidosis are uncommon except in diabetes, some kidney diseases and some of the gastro-intestinal intoxications in children.

The normal alkaline reaction of the blood is maintained, first, by the alkaline salts of the blood, the most abundant of which is sodium bicarbonate. Second, by the lungs through the respirations. They remove the carbon dioxide or carbonic acid, the acid which is found most abundantly in the body. Third, by the excretion of acid by the kidneys in the urine. (Urine is normally acid.)

The alkalinity of the blood may be lowered in two ways. First, when there is an excessive production of acids in the system. Second, when the normal amount of acids are not got rid of by the system, as for instance when the kidneys are disabled and cannot do their work.

Today we shall talk a little on the mild acidosis cases due to an excessive production of acid in the system through incorrect diet. The acidosis which may be caused by diabetes and other diseases we will not discuss in this talk. For those are not mild, but wild, and they are not easily tamed even by the most expert personal supervision of physicians who are experienced in the diseases which cause them.

But perhaps we can help you from reaching those forms of acidosis by teaching you how to avoid the mild forms. For the mild forms may lead up to such derangements of the system that eventually the diseases causing the more severe forms will appear.

The mild forms of acidosis are caused chiefly through prolonged grave dietetic errors. The chemistry of the foods in our bodies is very complicated and many of them are not well understood yet. However, we know this: In the breaking down of the food elements so that they can be used by the system for energy, repair and growth and the balance then eliminated, many acids are formed. The final acids and other things that are formed, we call the end products.

Between the beginning and the end products many other complicated acids stage a brief appearance. That is, their appearance is brief if there are small amounts of them. But if they are produced in such large amounts that the system cannot take care of them and whip them into line to become the acids that can be used and the balance eliminated, then of course they stage a longer appearance.

It is when there is this overproduction and extended engage-

BEAUTY CHATS

THE TEA GOWN HABIT

I know a woman who said that the greatest comfort she had in life was a tea gown. She adored tea gowns and pretty negligees and her clever fingers made up the most charming creations from old frocks and odd lengths of bargain counter material. When her husband died and she was left with no insurance and only $50 capital she invested the money in some attractive bits of silk and lace and turned her living room into a tea gown shop. She now has a very well paying business.

I am not writing this particularly to encourage you to go into business for yourself. Making tea gowns or kimonos requires a special gift. You are more restricted in style, therefore, more dependent upon exquisite workmanship and the effect of color and material. Slipshod work and material may pass in a dress, but a negligee must be all daintiness and allurements. Don't wear any if you can't wear a pretty one.

Don't wear them at any time when they are not appropriate. Housework should not be done in a kimono. An easily fastened working dress or a skirt and smock which permits you to dispense with corsets is useful here. The tea gown or negligee is only for your hours of rest.

Your old evening frocks will make lovely negligees. If they have been covered with chiffon or net which has become hopelessly spoiled rip this off and over the foundation drape something that is sheer and shimmering. If they were originally of silk that has soiled they can be freshened and the flaws hidden by a chiffon overdress. The easiest negligees to make and the prettiest, I think, are those with straight classic lines made of three and one-quarter yards of material sewed up the sides with a loose neck line cut out. These drape divinely.

Patrick: When the hands become as hardened as yours it is well to wear cosmetic gloves during the sleeping hours. I will be glad to mail you directions for making these if you are unable to purchase them.

A Friend: The best cure for nits is to saturate scalp and hair with kerosene and tie up in a towel over night. Next day shampoo with hot water and soap and saturate again with vinegar. Go over the hair with a fine tooth comb dipped in vinegar and shampoo a second time.

Catherine B.: Constantly reduce acidity.

As Simple As Hiccough Yet With Power of Death

Weekly Health Talk, No. 17

By Drs. Eble, Ds.C.

Hiccough usually comes and goes without attracting much attention. But it is within the knowledge of every community when some victim of this malady has literally hiccoughed himself or herself to death.

It is purely a nervous trouble and as such it is extraordinarily responsive to chiropractic vertebral adjustments. Usually the hiccough starts when food that irritates the alimentary canal and stomach lining is swallowed. If there is no nervousness or any real weakness, the hiccoughing spasm passes quickly. But if there is pressure at the spine on nerves controlling this spasmodic action, then there is difficulty in getting the hiccoughing under control. In such cases there is real and urgent need of chiropractic vertebral adjustments. Nothing else removes the cause so effectively.

WOMAN DYING OF HICCOUGHING SAVED

"The neighbors and friends of Mrs. H. W. Swartzlander of Birdville are rejoicing at her recovery from an attack of hiccoughs which lasted for three days without any relief whatever. Various medical remedies prescribed by a physician failed. Death was expected in a few hours. They had heard of chiropractic but had no confidence in what a chiropractor could do.

"The physician in charge, as a last resort, recommended that a chiropractor be called. A motor car was sent for him. In about one-half minute after the chiropractic adjustment Mrs. Swartzlander was relieved and smiled. In a few minutes the family that had been weeping in fear now was weeping with joy."—The Evening Telegram.

Liver Cutlets: Soak one pound of liver in cold water for two hours to draw out the blood, then parboil it for 20 minutes. Chop it fine and season with salt and pepper. Into a saucepan put one cup of sweet milk and heat to the boiling point; then stir into it one tablespoon of flour and two tablespoons of butter (rubbed together) and let cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Mix the parboiled liver with the yolk of one raw egg, then mix with the cream sauce. Leave it on a plate to cool. When cold, form the mixture into "cutlets," roll each cutlet in raw egg and cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat.

Twin Mountain Muffins: Cream together one-fourth cup of butter and one-fourth cup of sugar; add one beaten egg and mix well. Now sift together two cups of bread flour, five teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt. Add these dry ingredients to the first mixture alternately with one cup of sweet milk. Turn into buttered gem pans and bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes.

Ham Smothered in Sweet Potatoes. Buy a slice of smoked ham (about one and one-half pounds) and cut this into pieces convenient for serving. Broil these ham pieces lightly on both sides, then arrange them in a baking dish so that they cover the bottom. Spread three cups of raw, sliced sweet potatoes over them, sprinkle with two tablespoons of sugar, add one cup of hot water and one tablespoon of either melted butter or ham-drippings, then cover the dish and bake slowly till the ham is tender (basting the sweet potatoes occasionally with the gravy). Serve well browned on top.

Baked Eggs: Butter the bottom of a baking dish and cover the butter with fine bread crumbs. Now break into the dish enough eggs to serve your family. Sprinkle the eggs with grated cheese, season with salt and pepper, and pour over all three-fourths of a cup of sweet cream or top-milk and add a few small pieces of butter. Bake till the surface is browned over, then serve very hot.

Police Hunt Alleged Opium Den Patroness

A Glendale Service That Is Free For Public Use

"Business" is the supplying of human wants, and the business today that is built on the foundation of honesty and supplying a real demand is the business that will grow by leaps and bounds. Reliable information, light, heat, ventilation, all are important factors in business. Every convenience for doing things in the best way possible is now being utilized. Any transaction where both sides do not make money is immoral. Time is money and it takes money to operate business. Quick, reliable information saves much time, thus money, and increases your business. A man makes his business and by that business he is branded for life; he is a product of that business. Business was once conducted by violence; that time is past, now the truthful method is the successful method. Real honesty in business as an asset, is a new discovery.

In the past dishonesty has found willing ears, but now real business has no time to waste with it. We must not hear its pessimism. Those who conduct real business are filled with the thought and hearing of riveting machines building fifty stories overhead, with the silent raising of cards by mechanical means giving dependable information, with the pounding of the rock drills, with the whir of the dynamos, the buzz of the trolley, the crackle of the wireless, the ring of the phone bells, and of all of these wonderful inventions just one serves the general public, free of cost to them, and that is the Cutler Selected Directory Service now being extended throughout 74 towns in 150 positions in Southern California. The Chamber of Commerce, Broadway Pharmacy, Graham & Kirk, each are ready to give you this Service, FREE.—Advertisement.

ECONOMY BATTLE TO FEATURE MEET

Rival Forces to Contest Over Budget When State Legislature Convenes

upper house, expressing entire satisfaction with the allowances made for the University of California and its southern branch. Incidentally, Senator Breed is the champion of the university, Berkeley being located in his district.

Satisfies Majority
A few minutes prior to leaving Sacramento on Friday afternoon the writer canvassed members of the legislature on the budget and found most of them entirely satisfied, although they have some modifications and alterations to suggest which will likely meet with Richardson's approval.

Senator Johnson, for instance, introduced a skeleton bill to restore the forestry department in order to gain the $44,000 federal appropriation and this will go through although for a few weeks the foresters will be greatly perturbed probably. Other department chiefs are showing a great deal of anxiety and the chairman of the state civil service commission has resigned, but undoubtedly the governor will find a better man to take the job at reduced expenses.

Lobbyists Missing
Those who have served in previous sessions note the absence of the departmental lobbyists this year, for they are not expected, but got what Richardson pledged in his campaign—the axe. The retrenchment to follow will cut millions from the state payroll without impairing efficiency, it is said by observers, and in this the local representatives agree.

From all that could be learned, the southern branch of the University of California will be able to take care of its increased enrollment through the million additional appropriation allowed in the budget, at the same time curtailing high school work which properly belongs to local districts.

Senator Johnson is confident that the economy program in no way hinders higher education.

Assemblyman Weller is extremely interested in the matter of reapportionment, having introduced Glendale's Chamber of Commerce resolution, also then other action to speed the legislature's consideration of this vitally important work. The southern solons feel they should ask for all the representation due this section, but at the same time make concessions to the cow counties where districts already are unwieldy.

Mr. Weller also is pushing the bill sent him by City Attorney Hartley Shaw which will enable Glendale to construct a sewer line to the sea.

Spends Saturday Amid Snows on Mountain
A trip to the snow on the heights of Mt. Lowe was enjoyed Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rigdon and son Warren of 224 West Doran street and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham and son Vasar of 615 North Central avenue. They left Glendale early in the morning and spent the day in the snow on the mountains. They had dinner at the Alpine Tavern. They report that icicles were hanging from the eaves and that the branches of the trees were bending under the weight of heavy snow.

Glendalians Present at Interment of Cousin
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hightower of 320 West Euclid street were present this morning at the funeral of Mrs. March Ingledue, held in the Pierce Brothers' parlors, Los Angeles, at 11 o'clock. The deceased was a cousin of C. W. Ingledue and his sister, Mrs. Daniel Hightower. Her death occurred quite suddenly last Wednesday at her home, 1133 West Forty-seventh street, Los Angeles.

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

Humorous Program
A tribute to American wit and humor is to be paid by Tuesday Afternoon club members tomorrow afternoon, when members of the literary section will meet with Mrs. Frank E. Webb at 303 North Louise street for a humorous program.

The first event of the afternoon will be the roll call, to which each member is to reply with the "The Story That Made Me Smile."

Mrs. W. H. Verity has arranged the following program: A review of magazines by Mrs. Edgar Leavitt; a short story by Mark Twain, read by Mrs. G. H. Rowe; a short story by Bill Nye, read by Mrs. B. W. Sloan; a short story by Irvin Cobb, read by Mrs. T. G. McDougall; a short story by George Ade, read by Mrs. H. F. Garlinghouse; a short story by O. Henry, read by Mrs. E. S. McKee; a short story by Ring Lardner, read by Mrs. Frank Ayars.

The final entertainment feature will be a group of humorous stories by Harry James, monologist.

Enthusiastic Work
Glendale Parent-Teachers associations are working enthusiastically on plans for the P. T. A. Federation bazaar, to be held the afternoon and night of February 23 at the Glendale Union high school.

Mrs. L. T. Rowley, vice president and finance chairman of the federation, is general chairman in charge of the bazaar and she has given each association charge of some particular booth or entertainment.

In the evening a program will be given in the school auditorium, each school providing one number of entertainment.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the treasuries of the federation and the various associations.

Enjoyable Dance
A very pleasant social affair enjoyed by members of the younger set was the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Junior Dance Assembly, held Saturday night in the Chamber of Commerce hall.

The class, which is under the personal direction of Miss Edith Lindsay, has a membership of forty-two. Substitutes present were Miss Stella Roberts, Misses Leona and Evelyn Hunt, Terry Townsend, Horace Brown and Glenn Trafton. Patronesses for the evening were Mrs. Alton Goodale, Mrs. A. C. Merrihew, Mrs. H. A. McPherson, Mrs. N. J. Lindgren.

Honor Commander
Commander Chalmers Day and delegations from the Glendale American Legion post and Women's Auxiliary motored to Highland Park Saturday night to attend a reception of Seth Millington, commander of the California American Legion organization. The affair took place at the Ebell club house.

Commander Millington has been the guest of several of the southern California posts and Glendale is hoping to entertain him in the near future.

Veterans to Meet
The first meetings since the installation of officers are to be held Wednesday night by the Spanish War Veterans and the Women's Auxiliary. They will meet as usual in the K. of P. hall at the corner of Park avenue and South Brand boulevard.

Each organization will meet separately at 8 o'clock, with Dr. W. C. Mabry, commander, in charge of the veterans and Mrs. Anna Schmitt directing the women's meeting.

Program Tonight
Emerson School of Self-Expression pupils are to entertain their friends again tonight when they give a program at the school studio at 730 South Glendale avenue. These programs are given every two weeks and begin at 7:30 o'clock.

CAVANAH STUDIO SHOWS PROGRESS

Dunning System of Music Study Helps Children to Grasp Art

The work of The Cavanah Studios is progressing very well, special emphasis being given to the Dunning System of Music Study for Beginners, according to Howard Edward Cavanah, head of the studios.

"Glendale parents are realizing what it means to have available," he says, "a method of music study for the youngsters from 3 to 7, which actually teaches the little ones the necessary fundamentals of that fascinating art. They learn while playing games with one another. Not a moment is wasted, for each instant is replete with learning."

The band practices of the Glendale Boys' Band are progressing favorably at the studios, under the able direction of Prof. Grohmann, and any boys who are interested in the band should come to the studios at 214-A East Broadway any Tuesday or Friday after school and find out what is doing.

Mr. Carter Moore, the dramatic art director of the Cavanah Studios, has now in course of preparation several small plays that are to be the center from which he expects to project the community playhouse idea in Glendale. Any one who may be interested in the matter of community plays and playhouses are requested to get into touch with the Cavanah Studios.

X-Ray Will Determine Extent of Injuries

It is reported that the injuries received Friday by Warren West of 1819 S. Brand, when an elevator used in the construction of a building in Boyle Heights, fell with him and two companions, are very serious. It is feared that his back is broken. An X-ray was to be taken Sunday afternoon if his condition permitted.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Dr. Rasmus Contrasts Two Changeless Voices

"Two Changeless Voices" was the theme of Dr. Henry I. Rasmus yesterday morning at the First Methodist church.

"The Christian centuries were ushered in by two supreme and distinct voices," he remarked. "The first is the prophet's voice of rebuke for the world's sin. This was the announcement: 'I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness. Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.' It was the voice of the Hebrew man of genius who came fearlessly to call a wayward race to its knees. 'Is there no longer any need for the prophet's voice of rebuke in the world? Has sin ceased? Does iniquity no longer abound? It were well if some fearless son of the wilderness should come—not from, but to, society—to deliver his startling message. When such a one speaks, hearts are targets, his words are arrows and men are mortally convicted of their sins. The day has not passed when God speaks in terrific force through conscience to the souls of men."

"The second voice is the one supremely divine: 'My sheep hear my voice and they heed not the voice of a stranger.'"

Music Program Given At First M. E. Church

An old-fashioned song service was a feature of the evening session last night at the First Methodist church.

Hugo Kirchoffer of Hollywood, who made a reputation for himself as a long leader at the war camps, directed the congregation in the singing of a number of old-time gospel hymns. A double quartet sang at the morning service. It was composed of the following members: Miss Isabel Isgrig of Burbank, Mrs. R. P. Fitz of 210 West Windsor road, Miss Dorothy Pearl of 801 South Maryland avenue, Mrs. H. Dana Goss, 115 1/2 South Brand boulevard, Frank Butterfield of 1246 East California avenue, Glenn R. Dolberg of 206 1/2 West Broadway, Dr. P. O. Lucas of 115 South Verdugo road and M. S. Kuehny of 703 North Jackson street. The male voices in this quartet also sang during the evening service.

The morning and evening preludes and postludes were played by Mrs. H. W. Randall of 425 North Kenwood street, church organist.

Officers Are Installed At M. E. Sunday School

The installation of the officers, recently elected for the coming year, was an interesting feature of the Sunday morning session of the Central Avenue Methodist Sunday school.

The assistant superintendent of the school, H. Loren Mitchell, conducted the exercises, and installed the following: D. C. Bear, superintendent; H. Loren Mitchell, assistant superintendent; Jessie Hunt, secretary; Julia Goodsell, treasurer; Mrs. V. Kopp, missionary treasurer; Emily Kopp, librarian. Superintendents of Departments: Mrs. B. S. Moore, music; Helen Muhelman, pianist; S. C. Forney, adult; Rutherford Wallace, young people; Mrs. Nellie Rushworth, intermediate; Warren West, junior; Mrs. Jessie Hunt, primary; Mrs. A. P. Hogan, beginners; Mrs. Henry Pencost, temperance; L. A. Richardson, transportation.

A very pleasing little ceremony marked the presentation of a fine Bible and a beautiful growing evergreen tree, to James F. Brown, the retiring superintendent, who removed with his family, some months ago, to Montrose. Bearing the open Bible, little Ruth Mitchell, dressed in red, was followed by three little girls in white, carrying long ribbons of red and white, which seemed to be extended book marks from the open book. The little girls in white were Frances Slater, Winifred Williams, and Dorabelle Evans. Two young men of the school, R. J. Wallace and A. A. Baker, followed, carrying the tree which is intended for the new home in Montrose.

Paul's Similarity to Modern Christian Told

The third chapter of First Thessalonians was made the basis of the lesson at the men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church, meeting at the City Hall Sunday morning, taught by Keith L. Brooks. The Apostle Paul opens the chapter with the statement that he had been left behind at Athens alone. This is a statement that would not ordinarily attract much attention, but the speaker found in it an illustration of many a Christian in these days.

The social instinct in Paul was strong. He had great affection for his colleagues in the work and for his converts, and was ever expressing his heart's desire to be with them. Athens was one vast museum of unhalloved art, pagan culture, schools of religious speculation and godless worship. There, amongst all the philosophers, in the midst of all the godless civilization, was one man with a message from God.

A man's Athens may be his business, or it may be his social circle. Wherever it is that he is left behind alone, that is his isolated field. There he is so to live and so to witness as to recommend his faith.

Interruption of God's Plan Told by Speaker

"What Is Man?" was the subject of a lecture last night in the assembly room of the Citizens' Building by E. P. Tallafiero of San Francisco, representative of the International Bible Students' Association.

Mr. Tallafiero referred to the Bible constantly and treated the question in its widest scope; man's past, his present and his possible future state. He pointed out that Adam was created perfect. He then showed how all of this arrangement was interrupted by sin. According to Mr. Tallafiero, while God permitted this interruption, He has not permitted a failure of His plans. He proved from the Scriptures that God's original purpose has not been changed by Adam's failure.

Mr. Tallafiero called attention to the fact that 6000 years of man's experience with sin have passed and that dominion is very soon to be restored to him. He remarked that the dark clouds of trouble which were to mark the new day or order of things have been hovering over the whole world since 1914.

Support of Church Is Urged by Dr. Winnard

"Church Finance" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Tropico Presbyterian church.

"Obedience to the law of the tithe," remarked Dr. James F. Winnard, "would change an out-of-date and unsatisfactory system of church finance to one that would provide abundant funds for church support as well as for all forms of benevolences and missions."

"God's plan for financing his own Kingdom is right. And His commands as to it were not grievous. For every command along this line he gives a promise. 'Obedience to the law of the tithe will enable one to put one's self into work of the Kingdom as in no other way. We have but little time and but few talents but we do have some money and in using that the Lord uses us. 'The support of the church and the advancement of the Kingdom is not a voluntary matter but the eternal law of God.'"

One Idea Filled Life Of Paul, Says Pastor

Dr. W. W. Cookman of 638 North Louise street yesterday morning occupied the pulpit of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

"Paul was pre-eminently a man of one idea," he asserted. "That single high aim filled his whole field of vision and possessed him day and night, in city and country, in journeys and in prison and excelled all other ambitions."

"This is the spirit and purpose of the Christian religion when it dominates in the soul of man. The failures so common in Christian life are caused to a great extent by a divided purpose. We wish to be great in other departments than that of Christian life. We seek to shine in business, in learning, in art or science and, when the object of our ambition conflicts with the claims of Christ, we leave Him that we may secure it—much as if the runner in the course should stop to pick up some glittering pebble and so lose the victor's crown."

"Are we pressing toward the mark for the prize of the high calling? God will not lower the standard in our behalf and award us the prize if we strive not."

Sacred Music Program At Baptist Services

A varied program of sacred music marked the services yesterday at the First Baptist church.

Organ preludes both morning and evening were played by Mrs. Clara Lowinsky of 210 North Central avenue, church organist. Besides several anthems, the two numbers featured were "Impromptu" (by Strickland) at the morning service and "Voices of Nature," by Krahn, at the evening service.

A special item during the morning service was a contralto solo by Mrs. Bernice Wannacott of 132 Ethel street. R. E. Olin of 1312 North Columbus street played a violin obligato. Both a male quartet and a mixed quartet took part in the morning program. The mixed quartet was composed of H. W. Carver of 378 West California avenue; George Trefry of 1034 San Rafael road, H. Park Arnold of 635 North Jackson street; and Charles A. Comfort of 301 South Central avenue. Mrs. Park Arnold, Mrs. Wannacott, Mr. Comfort and Mr. Arnold composed the mixed quartet. Two baritone solos were sung by Clifford Riggs of 336 Salem street.

Methodist Bishop in Local Pulpit Sunday

Bishop H. M. DuBose of Los Angeles occupied the pulpit yesterday afternoon at the Broadway Methodist church. Dr. S. H. Weirlein, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district, also took part in the services.

The musical portion of the services was in charge of Mrs. Eva K. Ghrist of 629-B North Orange street, who has studied music extensively both in this country and abroad.

"Beulah Land" was sung by a mixed quartet consisting of the following: J. N. McGillis, 1003 East Lomita avenue, bass; Mrs. J. E. Morrison, 460 Patterson avenue, soprano; Rev. E. E. Barr, 1232 Orange Grove avenue, tenor; and Miss Matilda Rohr of Los Angeles, who also sang several solos, contralto. The quartet was accompanied by Mrs. Frances Knight of 704 North Howard street, church pianist.

Tells Difference in Christians' Capacity

"How great are the differences which divide us in the mere capacity of learning!" exclaimed Rev. C. A. Cole yesterday morning at the Central Christian church.

"Some can suck in knowledge as a sponge takes in water," he continued. "Others throw it aside as a hard rock." What amazing differences there are in children in just this quality of receptiveness—the power to appropriate knowledge. You give one child a hint and he has the entire lesson. To the other child you have to spell it out slowly, a syllable at a time.

"So it is in the realms of religion. There are magnificent scholars in the school of Christ, scholars who can follow hard at the Master's heels and appreciate his lightest word. But there are poorer ones like Mr. Ready-to-Halt, who limp painfully and slowly and often slip and slide on the upward track. Then there are those who are content with what few things the preacher says on Sunday—provided he doesn't hit them."

ASKS PERMIT TO RUN AUTO BUSES

Fifteen Routes Embraced in Application Filed by
C. D. Gulick

Application to operate motor buses over fifteen routes in the City of Los Angeles was filed with the Los Angeles board of public utilities this morning by C. D. Gulick, promoter of the Glendale and Southern Pacific Motor Bus Company.

Over 250 of the most modern single and double deck motor cars will be put into service if this application is granted, according to Mr. Gulick. He stated that the service would be as frequent as three minutes in the congested areas and as frequent as public convenience may require in the outlying districts.

A percentage of the gross revenue and earnings of the cars is promised by this company in addition to the usual taxes.

Describes Cars
"The cars will be equipped with all the latest safety devices," asserted Mr. Gulick. "They will have air brakes on all of the wheels. The cars will be of the low slung long wheel base and wide tread type. They will be easy riding, and luxuriously appointed. They will not be any more destructive to the streets and pavement than the average limousine or touring car of the heavier type."

The Railroad Commission now has applications from this company to operate several lines through the San Fernando valley from Los Angeles via Hollywood to Van Nuys, Lankershim and San Fernando.

Options to purchase the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company and the Pasadena-Ocean Park bus lines are now held by the Glendale and Southern Pacific Motor Bus Company.

Slays Wife, Daughter, Wounds Son, Suicides

PHOENIX, Feb. 5.—Insanity was the explanation offered today for the slaying last yesterday by R. F. Payton, well-to-do farmer, who killed his wife and 9-year-old daughter and probably fatally injured his 5-year-old son with an axe and then took his own life.

The horrible affair was discovered by friends from Phoenix who visited the Payton ranch later in the afternoon. There they found the daughter dead in a chair and the boy still breathing. The wife and mother was found in the yard a few feet from the residence, covered with a piece of canvas. Further search revealed the body of Payton in a nearby field. He had cut his throat with a razor.

Payton was one of the best known farmers in this section of the country, having come here from Oregon. He was also a member of the state legislature.

Govt. Helium Plant Is Wrecked by Explosion

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Feb. 5.—Ben Johnson, a civilian employee of the war department, was killed and William E. Snyder, an employee of the United States bureau of mines, was injured in an explosion which wrecked the helium plant here. ### Bandits Bind and Rob Score of Hotel Guests

OAKLAND, Feb. 5.—Six armed and masked bandits entered the Mount Eden hotel at Mount Eden, near here, early today, forced a score of guests from their rooms into the lobby, where they robbed them of their valuables, and made good their escape after tying their victims with ropes.

Insists Renters Have 6 Children in Family

LYNN, Mass., Feb. 5.—In direct contrast to the majority of landlords, Mrs. Vincent Gregg, better known as "Mother" Gregg, announced she would rent her houses only to families having at least six children.

"To Rent" placards containing the above proviso were displayed in windows of two of her dwellings. Other houses owned by "Mother" Gregg are all occupied by families with six or more children. Mrs. Gregg has long been identified with welfare work in this city.

Jackie Coogan Answers L. A. Club Women Critics

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—"You can't play little Lord Fauntleroy all the time—not with kids now-a-days," Thus Jackie Coogan, boy wonder of the moving picture world, here on route to New York, summed up his answer to Los Angeles club women who declared his plays "set a bad example to the youth of the nation."

"I try to be just a natural boy in my pictures," he declared. "All boys get into mischief. I think the public will find nothing harmful or of bad example in my plays."
